

Submit a Poster

2012 Vice-Chancellor's Symposium

One way to take part in this year's Vice-Chancellor's Symposium is to prepare an A1 poster that illustrates your response to the question of how are we defining ourselves as 21st Century scholars. These posters will be at the core of this year's Symposium. They will be a key feature during the morning programme where presenters will get a chance to explain and discuss their ideas to delegates. Digital images of each poster will be displayed electronically for online participants.

Win a prize

An iPad will be given as the main prize for the best and most thought-provoking poster. Other prizes will also be awarded.

Details of poster format

Posters should be: provocative, thoughtful, engaging, and present individual or group or unit responses to the question of what defines us as 21st Century scholars—that is, as contemporary advancers, disseminators and maintainers of knowledge. Posters should be on a single A1 sheet and include full names and contact details of its producers. You may wish to use the poster template that is available for the Symposium through the Design Studio. Images, diagrams and figures be of a high enough quality for printing - 300 dpi (dots per inch) is preferable for printing purposes. More information about the template is available by contacting the Design Studio [<http://printery.massey.ac.nz/contact>] or downloading a copy from the Vice-Chancellor's Symposium website:

<http://vcsymposium.massey.ac.nz>

Expression of Interest

All expressions of interest in submitting a poster must be registered by Monday 15th October through the website portal.

Looking for Ideas

If you would like to discuss your poster idea before getting started, then please contact a member of the VC's Symposium Committee or the Assistant Vice-Chancellor (Academic & International) or Assistant Vice-Chancellor (Research & Enterprise). If you have any questions about this year's Vice-Chancellor's Symposium, then please contact Professor Mark Brown <m.e.brown@massey.ac.nz>